great difficulty as to the satisfactory settlement of pending questions. He rose and said : [Found in Elliott's Debates in the Federal Convention, June 28, 1787, vol. 5, p. 253.] "Mr. President, the small progress we have made after four or five weeks close attendance and continual reasoning with each other, our different sentiments on almost every question-several of the last producing as

men's souls," we cannot omit to refer to the action of many noes as ayes-is, methinks, a melancholy proof of the imperfection of the human understanding. We, indeed, seem to feel our want of political wisdom, since we have been running about in search of it. We have gone back to ancient history for morals of Government, and examined the forms of those which, having been formed with the seeds of their own dissolution, now no longer exist. And we have viewed modern States 4 85 all around Europe, but find none of their constitutions suitable to our circumstances. In this situation of the assembly, groping as it were, in the dark to find political 87 29 00 truth, and scarce able to distinguish it when presented to us, how has it happend, sir, that we have not once thought of humbly applying to the Father of Light to illuminate our understandings? In the beginning of the contest with Great Britain, when we were sensible of danger, we had daily prayer in this room for Divine prote tion. Our prayers, sir, were heard, and they were graciously answered. " All of us who were engaged in the struggle must have observed frequent instances of a superintending Providence in our favor. To that kind Providence we owe the happy opportunity of consulting in peace on the means of establishing our future national felicity. And have we now forgotten that powerful friend? Or do we imagine that we no longer need his assistance? "I have lived, sir, a long time, and the longer I live the more convincing proofs I see of this truth—that God governs the offairs of men; and if a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without His notice, is it probable that an Empire can rise without His aid? We have been assured, sir, in the sacred writings, that 'except the Lord no better than the builders of Babel. We shall be divi ded by our little partial local interests; our projects will be confounded, and we ourselves shall become a reproach and by-word down to future ages. And, what is worse mankind may hereafter, from this unfortunate instance, despair of establishing governments by human wisdom, and leave it to chance, war and conquest. "I, therefore, beg leave to move that henceforth prayers, imploring the assistance of Heaven, and blessings on our deliberations, be held in this assembly every morning before we proceed to business, and that one or more of the clergy of this city be requested to officiate in that

The motion was carried, and thus was inaugurated the custom of having prayers at the opening of the sessions of both houses of Congress.

Sliver and Gold Discovery.

AN EDITOR IN LUCK .- The Charleston (S. C.) Mercury, of the 28th ult., contains the following "personal" item. We congratulate our Columbia contemporary on his good luck : Mr. W. W. Walker, Jr , of the Columbia Courant, the fortunate legate of "the plum" announced a few weeks since by "Nox," in his correspondence to the Mercury, has received, by late steamers, confirmatory intelligence of the legacy, which will net one hundred and twenty-five thousand pounds sterling, besides interest, exchange, etc. Its value is fully five hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. Mr. Walker go s to New York soon to complete arrangements for its transfer to It appears from the reports of the Life Insurance his credit -a very agreeable duty.
